Alock's going to Houma to be 1st asst DA makes little sense. It is the sticks and he is a good lawyer. I've heard him held forth about from Judge Ahea down to Pershing Gervais. He was a good lawyer, a good prosecutor. Can't understand his not going to a good law firm in N.O. if he lacked the means to establish his own practise. He was under no illusions about Garrison way back, if he was loyal to his job. I have a hunch JG may figure in this, or disgust about N.O. Legendre was not a big man in the office. Don t know much about him, do not attribute much significance to his departure. But Alock going to second-string at Houma from being a N.O. judge is too much. HW 2/18/72
